Our bridal beauty process.

We're so excited to be working with you! We know that your wedding day is filled with so many moments, and we want to make sure you have the time to savor each one.

That's why we're excited to offer our services at your preferred location, be on time with customized beauty looks that are designed just for you and your bridal party.

You're here because you like what you saw in our beauty work! The next step after confirming that we have your date available is to set up a trial session.

WHAT IS A TRIAL SESSION?

A trial session is a time we set aside for you as the bride to come in and preview the look you desire for your wedding day. Inspiration pictures of hair and makeup are welcome and always encouraged!

During this time, we talk through your options and choose a look that matches your vision for your day. If there are any tweaks along the way, no problem! We will be happy to accommodate any changes or additional requests.

Before or after your trial session, a contract will be sent to you to fill and sign and a retainer fee will be collected to reserve your date. Please note that without a signed contract and retainer fee, your wedding date is not guaranteed even if you have had your trial session with us.

What to Expect?

We understand things can change even up to the day of your wedding. Most of the communication between us will be done by email so we both have a record of specific details being requested.

Once you confirm the amount of beauty services you will need from us, a getting ready schedule will be drafted and sent to you for approval.

The week of your wedding, please look out for a reminder email confirming all the details and payments for the day of.

After all beauty services are done, your remaining balance will be due. You are welcome to pay in advance of your wedding day.

And that's it! Your day will be amazing!
